Why is my work no longer on WorldCat.org?

Last updated: Tue, 26 Jul 2022 18:37:01 GMT

Answer

WorldCat.org displays the list of OCLC member libraries that indicate they currently own an item and maintain appropriate OCLC subscriptions to make their collections visible on WorldCat.org. As part of normal operations, libraries update their records to add or remove their ownership information on a title. The total number of owning libraries will subsequently fluctuate with those updates.